Foreword

Every nation takes pride in its history and the intellectual and literary pursuits of generations after generations of its people. Great works of great minds can be found everywhere, in developed, as well as in less developed countries of the world. Such works, be they in the form of books, manuscripts, reports, monographs, articles published in journals, pamphlets, films and those stored in other forms of media, need to be located, systematically organized and stored for better access and use, as well as for posterity.

UNESCO has long been pre-occupied with assisting countries not only in raising awareness about the need to preserve and organize such documentary heritage materials to ensure their accessibility when required, but also in developing appropriate information storage and retrieval systems, as well as enhancing their national capacities to manage and operate the system.

The preparation of this National Union Catalogue (NUC) of publications and documents in Nepal is one of the multi-pronged activities being undertaken under the project on the "Reorganization of the Nepal National Library in Support of Literacy", financed by DANIDA (Danish International Development Agency) and executed by UNESCO. With this first volume of 10,731, records culled from 16,880 records collected from 20 major libraries in the country, it is hoped to have produced a basic reference tool so vital in tracking down the literature output of its people. It is, however, just the beginning, as it is estimated that there are some 200,000 records written by Nepali, for and about Nepal and its people which need to be identified, located, catalogued and inputted in the database.

It is to be noted that this NUC has achieved more than just the publication of the first volume. It has created a system which can be continued by concerned agencies to reach the ultimate goal of locating all the 200,000 or so titles of valuable documents and publications, and in the near future eventually publishing Nepal's National Bibliography.

It has also brought together in the spirit of resource-sharing 20 libraries and two professional organizations to come and work together as a network and to learn from each other. Moreover, in working together in this project, the library staff of these 22 institutions have significantly been exposed and have broadened their perspectives in terms of the vital role of libraries and information in education and in development.

The NUC is a modest product, but a giant step in the right direction, in terms of setting the stage for Nepal to eventually join the other developing nations as part of the emerging global information society.

UNESCO, jointly with the Danish Government, takes pride in being able to assist Nepal in such a worthy undertaking and for being able to contribute in the development of library and information services in the country.

Preface

There are more than 500 libraries in Nepal, but majority are located in Kathmandu area. So far there is no established arrangement to share the collections that these libraries hold, nor do they have a systematic way of knowing what each library has. As a result, not only are scarce resources used for procuring and processing duplicates, instead of rationalizing acquisition of more important titles, but it also fails in guiding researchers to avoid duplicating other people's research work. Even if subject bibliographies were sometimes compiled, they were not easily accessible to other researchers and users. However, scholars, scientists, researchers, policy and decision makers have often decried the lack of a tool to locate and identify documents and publications related in their study. With this in mind, the Nepal National Library under the project "Reorganization of Nepal National Library in Support of Literacy Programme", a project funded by DANIDA and executed by UNESCO, initiated the preparation of a National Union Catalogue of Nepali documents and publications. This first volume of the National Union Catalogue is one of the major outputs of this project. In fact, this is the first National Union Catalogue in the history of the library and information field in Nepal.

The preparation of this NUC could not have been possible without the full support and cooperation of 19 major libraries and information centres, which were identified as the cooperating libraries for a national library network to be established and coordinated by the Nepal National Library. To start the process, a three-day seminar was held in April 1995 to discuss the content and procedure of preparing the union catalogue. The seminar recommended to start collecting English language materials on and about Nepal which should be inputted in database format using the MicroCDS/ISIS software package developed by UNESCO, in combination with the Common Communication Format (CCF), also developed by UNESCO. The CDS/ISIS Society Nepal (CISN), under the leadership of its President, Mr. Bhanu Pathak, was given the responsibility of inputting, compiling and editing the catalogue, in collaboration with the staff of the Nepal National Library, who will also be trained in the process.

In preparing the NUC, it was also decided to include all the documents on Nepal in English regardless of the place of publication and subject of the documents. Because of the variation in the structure and content of the databases submitted by the cooperating libraries, it was decided to have a minimum set of data elements based on the internationally accepted rules similar to that of AACR2, with some modifications to accommodate some unique national practices. The Common Communication Format (CCF) field tags were followed to make it compatible with international bibliographic databases.

The main catalogue is organized alphabetically by subject, with the author and title indexes provided at the the end with their respective record numbers.

The National Union Catalogue (NUC) is a cooperative effort of the participating libraries and information professionals in Nepal. The catalogue will be made available in printed and machine readable forms. More than 16,800 records were collected from 20 different libraries, eight of which have their collection already in computerized form. After excluding duplicate records, a total of 10,731 records were retained for the first volume of the NUC, while the other records submitted by other cooperating libraries will be processed and inputted in the 2nd volume of the NUC. As an initial step in the process of systematizing the collection, processing, dissemination and use of information in the country, it is hoped that this publication will prove to be a useful tool.

We would like to express our gratitude to all who have directly and indirectly contributed to bring about this publication. We are especially grateful to Tribhuvan University Central Library (TUCL), which has contributed almost half of the total records in the Union Catalogue. Similarly, we would like to thank the Central Forestry Library (CFL), the Agricultural Projects Services Centre (APROSC) Library, the Royal Nepal Academy of Science and Technology (RONAST) Library and Documentation Centre, the Water Energy Council Secretariat (WECS) Library, the International Centre for Integrated Mountain Development (ICIMOD) Library and UNICEF Nepal Library for their participation in the network and for kindly providing their bibliographic records for inclusion in the NUC.

We are extremely grateful to DANIDA and UNESCO for providing financial support and technical guidance throughout the project, especially to Miss Delia E. Torrijos, Regional Adviser, UNESCO-Bangkok and Prof. Susanne Ornager, Royal School of Librarianship, Denmark for their invaluable work in the project preparation, implementation and monitoring.

We are also grateful to the Nepal Library Association for its professional contribution. Similarly, we would like to thank the CDS/ISIS Society Nepal (CISN), especially, Mr. Bhanu Pathak and his team particularly Mr. Damodar Adhikari, for taking the overall responsibility in completing the Nepal National Union Catalogue on time.

We welcome any comments and suggestions for the improvement and widespread use of the NUC.
